Designed with your needs—and independence rules—in mind

Merrill Lynch

Bank of America Corporation

Advice, guidance, personalized service and convenience

Incorporating independence rules into your wealth management strategy helps you create a better sense of direction—for you, your firm’s independence office and your board of directors. At Merrill Lynch, we offer access to a national network of Financial Advisors who are specially trained to work with clients like you. Additionally, we offer access to leading investment and banking solutions that draw upon the investment knowledge and resources of Merrill Lynch and the banking convenience of Bank of America.

Through a one-on-one relationship with the Merrill Lynch Relationship Management team designated to serve Deloitte partners, principals and managing directors, you’ll have the support and guidance to help you pursue your financial goals while having your trading activity reported directly to your firm. What’s more, with Bank of America’s executive banking solutions and team of professional Merrill Lynch Banking Advisors, your everyday banking needs can be met with that same level of excellent support and personalized service.

Plus, you’ll enjoy the ability to view all your Merrill Lynch investment and Bank of America banking accounts through one portal.

Our team, your goals

The Merrill Lynch Relationship Management Team offers you the personal attention you require to implement solutions to help address your needs, with less effort. Because independence rules are simply one facet of your financial life, we start by gaining a thorough understanding of your goals and objectives.

With a state-of-the-art wealth management platform and access to BofA Merrill Lynch™ Global Research, we are positioned to offer you investment solutions designed to help meet your needs; including retirement, education funding accounts, insurance coverage, estate planning services and wealth transfer strategies—and access to banking solutions from Bank of America such as savings and banking products, and credit and lending services.

Your relationship with the team goes beyond implementing recommendations. As your needs change, our periodic portfolio reviews help you adapt your strategy and better align your objectives to fit your new circumstances. Our statements and online account access enable you to easily review your finances on an ongoing basis. Our approach is designed to help you stay on track and positioned for success.

We also respect your privacy. You can be assured that your account information will not be shared with your employer without your explicit consent.

How it works

You'll enjoy the convenience of having your current holdings automatically updated to your firm's compliance platform. Because of our direct link to your firm's independence office, you can rest assured that you will be promptly notified if there is ever an issue with a transaction. And while ultimate responsibility for compliance remains with you, our program is designed to reduce the administrative aspects of reporting your investments.

The Merrill Lynch advantage

The Merrill Lynch Relationship Management Team offers you the experience and personalized attention you require with investment choices, access to Bank of America banking solutions and Merrill Lynch investment services to help fit your unique needs. At Merrill Lynch, you can potentially benefit from:
